

How to Determine the Web Address to Use for Login

SEQUENCE TO FOLLOW

- 1 - Type in the web address (<http://www.xango.com>) into your browser to display XanGo's home page as shown above.
- 2 - Position your mouse pointer over the text : SELECT A MARKET to display a list of all of the countries XanGo™ is currently open and doing business in.

The screen view looks like this:

Scroll down the list (by moving your mouse pointer over each entry) then select the country your XanGo™ distributorship is registered in (via a single click on the left-hand mouse button).

The home page of your country-specific website is displayed. For example, in the UK this is: <http://www.xango.co.uk>. UK distributors can use this website address to login to your XanGo™ back office. You can determine which website to use by selecting the country flag for the country you are registered in.

XanGo™ has different login pages for each country so it is important to use the correct web address to access your XanGo™ back office.

You can view all of the login web addresses for each country at <http://www.xango.com/promotions/myxango.html> . This page looks like:

The web addresses listed in the above screen take you directly to the login panel where you can login in to your XanGo™ back office. For example, the UK web address for the login panel is <http://www.myxango.co.uk> . So you can login from this website or from your country specific website – both work.

The screen display for the login panel looks like:
